Dear subscribers of the DRC Newsletter,

Christmas is coming and the end of the year is slowly approaching!

We have all expected 2021 as the opportunity to start again - leaving behind the pandemic and all the limitations it brought about. While the spread of the virus has not stopped, neither did we: all of us coped with the difficulties imposed by the circumstances, and we are pleased to see our partners' commitment to maintaining the DRC network operative also in 2021!

We could experience such commitment recently, during the DRC Annual Meeting, which took place in November. Together, we had the opportunity to discuss what has been done during the outgoing year and the paths to pursue in order to improve our network and enhance cooperation further in 2022!

With this November/December edition of our newsletter, we would sincerely thank all the members and friends of the DRC for their interest in our work in 2021. The Danube Rectors' Conference wishes you peaceful holidays and a happy new year!

And remember, feedback and comments are always welcome!

1. DRC Annual Meeting 2021

On 10-12 November, the DRC Presidency and Permanent Committee and General Assembly were held online. During both meetings, the DRC Presidency and the DRC Secretariat presented the activities performed throughout the year, as well as developments of the DRC network and other topics. During the General Assembly, the applications of membership from two more universities in the Danube Region were approved. Therefore, we are pleased to announce that the DRC network is welcoming two more members:

the University of Reutlingen and the J. Selye University of Komarno

Moreover, the Annual Meeting 2021 brings other exciting news. With immense pleasure, we have agreed that the next Annual Meeting 2022 will take place in the beautiful city of Maribor, Slovenia - upon invitation of the DRC President Zdravko Kačič, Rector of the University of Maribor.

Further documents, including the minutes, are available on our DRC intranet. To get access as DRC member, please write an e-mail to info@drc-danube.org.

In addition, two new projects for the upcoming year have been presented and approved by the General Assembly:

2. Danubius Awards Ceremony 2021

On November 11, 2021, the IDM, together with the Federal Ministry of the Republic of Austria of Education, Science and Research, awarded excellent scientists, whose talent has flourished in the Danube Region.

The Danubius Award went to Austrian scientist Prof. Josef Glöb University Professor for Applied Genetics at the Institute of Plant Biotechnology and Cell Biology of Boku. We are honoured to have awarded this important prize to Prof. Glöb, who stands out for an exceptional career in physiology, chemistry, plant physiology, and applied genetics - together with his invaluable contribution to the Danube region's academic development.

The Danubius Mid-Career Award has been awarded to the Serbian scientist Tanja Dabović, Ass. Professor at the Faculty of Geography of the University of Belgrade, where she has been working in the field of Spatial Planning since her PhD. Her work has mainly focused on planning disciplines, with particular emphasis on multi-level governance and cross-sector integration. Involved in different national and international projects, Prof. Dabović's research has proved to be meaningful for the Danube Region, as the award clearly demonstrates.

3. DRC Strategic Foresight: The Future of Science and Education in a Globalised World: A View For and From the Danube Region

The project involves 20 young students and scholars from the Danube Region countries. It aims to develop strategic foresight in the area of higher education in Central, Eastern, and Southeastern Europe. Participants will discuss, learn from one another and share ideas on four areas of higher education in the DRC region, namely:

- University Autonomy and Governance;
- Science and Learning in Digital Era;
- Scientific Research for European Decision-Making;
- Employability of students and early-stage researchers;

The call for application will be published in January on the DRC website, where you will learn more about the project and the participation requirements!
Stay tuned!

4. DRC Initiative Fund

The Danube Rectors' Conference is glad to offer students of doctoral study programmes at DRC member universities the possibility to obtain financial means for developing applicants' projects, solutions, prototypes.

We are prepared to support outstanding students and young scholars' projects which can have a positive impact in the region, in line with the EU Strategy for the Danube Region (EUSDR), by financing the following activities:

- Material costs
- Cost of use of research equipment at other DRC member institutions
- Service costs
- Travel costs and costs of stay for the students and their family members

We warmly invite young scholars to apply to the Call for applications, which will be published in January on the DRC website.

5. Upcoming EUA peer learning opportunities

The European University Association invites all EUA member institutions to the 2022 Thematic Peer Groups. Intended for senior leadership and staff with strategic and institutional-level responsibility for learning and teaching, this programme provides an opportunity for peer learning and the exchange of experiences. This year's themes are:

- Digitally competent teachers in designing quality learning environments
- Collaborative teaching practice
- Needs and wellbeing of student and staff

The deadline for applications is 28 January 2022, and the results of the call will be announced in mid-February 2022. The full call is available on this link.

The EUA kindly invites registrations for the following events. European Learning and Teaching Forum, a platform for discussion on how universities enhance learning and teaching through digital means (registration link here) and two new members for the EUA Learning&Teaching Steering Committee, which oversees EUA's Learning&Teaching activities (registration link here)

For updates on EUA's Learning & Teaching activities, look for #EUALearnTeach on

6. The Open Access call of the ELSA and the nano-biotechnology laboratory

The Open Access call of the ELSA and the Nano biotechnology Laboratory Joint Call between two JRC Research Infrastructures to tackle cross-boundary issues with the access cost waived for institutions applying from WPSE-listed countries. We invite proposals for projects to experiment, prototype and demonstrate ideas for the New European Bauhaus.

The ELSA Reaction Wall and the Nanobiotechnology Laboratory will serve as collaboration platform to stimulate creativity and innovation in the built environment. Location: Ispra, Italy. Opening of the call will be on September 22, the closure one on January 16.

Research priorities:

- Safe and green renovation of buildings for the New European Bauhaus.
  - New materials and technologies.
  - Sustainable materials for construction.
  - Application of advanced testing methods.
